

I am against the use of power lines for broadband. It is well-known as being a significant threat to HF communications. As an amateur radio operator, I must state my concern that commercial interests are overly strong in the current political atmosphere, and in this case may result in serious damage to the enjoyment of my hobby and, more importantly, the effectiveness of amateur radio as a communication system in times of emergency.